

I am not for expanding the LPFM service. This would force the station that I love off the airwaves. K-Love serves my family with hip music that is safe for my children to listen too and allows me and my family to exercise our freedom of religion in an inspiring way that only benefits my children to become ideal citizens in their community. In affect by taking away stations like this you are squelching freedom of speech of different points of view that may not get heard in mainstream media. If it were to go away you would be getting rid of a station that promotes high values which are God based which is what made this country what it is today, although more and more lesser values have all the air time and are shaping this country into a country of moral decay, a thriving growing equality giving to others society. Christianity is not a bad way of life but a good one and by limiting their access to the airwaves you are doing a disservice to society in general.
